

Tame global periodic reporting complexity.

Orbit takes the guesswork out of Aggregate Safety Reporting, boosting your team's efficiency with streamlined workflows, automated scheduling and an intuitive user experience.

There's a better way to manage your reporting workflow.

RIMS and Document Management systems are often presented as the answer to complicated global periodic reporting processes. Yet, to this day, companies are struggling under the demands of aggregate safety reporting, often relying on manual communication and tracking spreadsheets to get oversight. Orbit's flexible, workflow-driven technology helps companies reduce the burden around global aggregate reporting complexity.

Integrated Experience

Orbit connects with your existing technology to reduce data entry and automate report scheduling

Harmonization

With all information in one location, reviewing and harmonizing project deadlines has never been simpler.

Project Management

View upcoming project timelines, prioritize, and plan resourcing simply with globally integrated management.

Safety Commitments

Manage Safety Commitments and report feedback centrally and connect global processes through resolution.

Powerful harmonization.

Streamline Document Exchange

Orbit's Aggregate Safety Reporting tracker includes built-in workflows for distributing safety documents based on SDEA and PV Agreement terms. With Orbit, your team will reduce time spent reviewing contracts, emailing partners, and tracking local actions and submissions.

Reporting life-cycle, managed.

With Orbit's cross-functional use-cases, your team will gain oversight of Aggregate Safety Reporting timelines, share MedDRA Query Strategies with Signaling and Risk teams, monitor completion of Safety Commitments, and even feed PV Agreement compliance metrics.

With flexible workflows, you have all the tools you need to react quickly to changing regulatory and internal requirements.
